Rotary asked to back plan

By Dave Gosnell

GRANITE CITY — A "last stand" is how one Granite City Rotary Club member described plans to build a shopping center in the economically depressed downtown.

Rotary Club member Bill Terrell urged the club to support the proposed downtown shopping center.

The city's economic development director, Alan Orthals, spoke about the shopping center Nov. 18 at the club's monthly prayer breakfast at Charlie's Restaurant. It will cost about $13 million and require the purchase and demolition of a 10-block area fronting on Madison Avenue across from the Granite City Steel plant.

"We need a lot of ambassadors on this thing. There are people in town who say this is a waste of time and money," Orthals said. "What we want to do is bring this thing off the drawing board and turn it into brick and mortar."

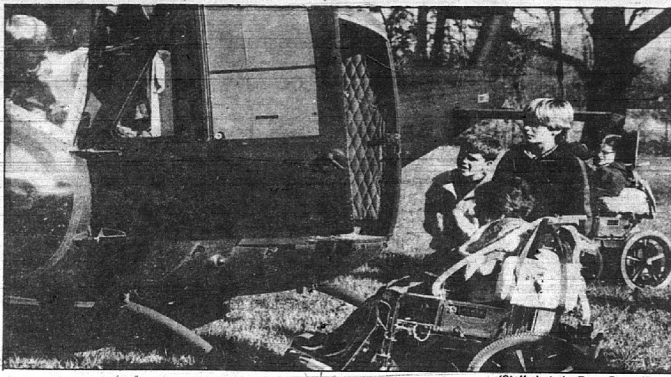

He said the new store would create about 300 jobs in the area. Orthals said he expects opposition, mainly from downtown property owners wary of relocating.

"If certain individuals block this, it would be a detriment to the entire community," Orthals said.

Orthals said the project will benefit businesses on Nameoki Road.

"This is going to have a good impact on Nameoki Road. It's initially going to take a chunk out of Nameoki. But some tough competition will be good in the long run," Orthals said.

Orthals, 35, was named city economic development coordinator Sept. 17, 1985, by Mayor Von Dee Cruse.

A "HUEY" Army helicopter is examined by Darrell Jr. and David Marcum (in wheelchairs) at their home near Mitchell.

Wish from sky comes true

By Dave Gosnell

MITCHELL — The dogs barked and tugged on their chains as the roaring, olive-green helicopter touched down in a field north of Interstate 270 on Old Alton Road.

The UH-1 "Huey" helicopter was on a mission from Scott Air Force Base to provide a day to remember for Darrell Jr. and David Marcum.

David and Darrell Jr., 15-year-old twins, have a usually fatal form of muscular dystrophy. Their father, Darrell Marcum, arranged for the boys to see the Huey. It is the same helicopter model Marcum flew in as a staff sergeant during the Vietnam War.

"I rode a couple of missions in them. I thought it would be nice if the boys could see it," Marcum said. He said a friend, who is a fellow Vietnam veteran at Scott, helped arrange the helicopter visit.

As the Huey appeared above the tree tops at the Marcum home, the boys were at a window inside watching.

Because of their condition, David and Darrell Jr. cannot be outside for long and are bound to wheelchairs. When the craft landed, the boys were taken by Marcum and his wife, Beverly, to the helicopter, where Army personnel gave the twins an explanation of how the Huey is flown.

The Huey came from the 281st

Aviation Company Army Reserve Unit at Scott.

Marcum said the twins were interested in seeing the helicopter after hearing their father tell of his Vietnam experiences.

Pilot Paul Herrick said he liked the peace-time mission Monday.

"It was preferable from the standpoint of doing something positive," Herrick said, comparing war missions of the Huey. He said it took about 20 minutes to fly from Scott traveling at about 100 miles-per-hour.

The Marcum twins suffer from a severe form of muscular dystrophy called Duchenne's that strikes mostly boys and young men.

3rd graders tell how to get a turkey in the oven

Third graders at Mitchell Elementary School were presented with the question of how to get a turkey into the oven for Thanksgiving. What followed were some wild, funny ideas that prove, once again, the joy of youthful imagination.

Phillip J.B.: The turkey: My mom told me hunt you, so I am. Come on you dumb turkey, I got a gun! I'm going to shoot you. Come on.

Michael Buford: "You better get in the oven now, or I will catch you myself." O.K. I will get in there now. "Shut up said the boy named John."

Shannon Walsh: The Turkey that Was Too Smart. One day my mom saw a turkey she told me to get it in the oven. I told the turkey I would get a coyote after him. He said I don't care. When I got the coyote the turkey got him. Next I said to a girl turkey in the oven so he went crazy and ran in the oven. He got mad when he found out but by the time he found how to get out he was dead. The End.

Gary Stanek: The Living Turkey. One morning a live turkey was getting ready to be cooked. It started to scream. I said, "Shut up turkey" and it shut up. We started to cook it that very day, which was Thanksgiving. The End.

Amy Holmes: The Turkey Who Never Got Out of the Oven. "I would tell the turkey that his toy is in there and there are bird seeds. The turkey got in the oven and somebody closed the oven door and turned on the oven but the oven would not work and the turkey tried to get out but it could not."

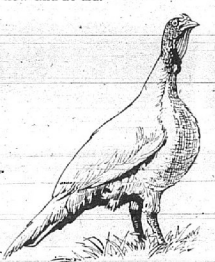

Jason Batson: Turkey will you get in the oven? Your family is in there. Then I will eat you with my fork? Now will you go in the oven? Now you are cornered. Now I got you. I will you in the oven. You won't go in. Oh!

Charles Stepanek: I Caught a Turkey. I caught a turkey but he was too wild. So my dad shot him, but he was too closed so we cut him in half. Then he got cooked. And they made some dressing too and had a good Thanksgiving supper. The End.

Albert Forrester: "You have better get into that oven or I will cut your head off and then put in into the oven." "O.K." said the turkey. On one condition. Do not cut my head off. O.K. Just get into the oven. No O.K. hear goes your head. "No!" To late. Splat. Now I can put you into the oven. The next day they ate it up it was very tasty said Mr. Hunter.

Brian Rodgers: The Flying Turkey. It flew in my room. It came out of my room. It went in the kitchen. It went in the oven. It came out. It was nice to go in the oven. It was fun trying to catch him I told him to get in now and he did.

Adam K. Ebrecht: The Turkey Hunt. I would tell a turkey "here turkey turkey turkey. Here come to papa before you get killed by the terrible hunters." You better come here now. It's time to put you in the oven, so they cooked him on Thanksgiving day.

Johany Daniel Wright: The Thanksgiving Turkey. Once upon a time a boy was walking down the street with his father. At the other side was a turkey and then his father followed the foot prints, the boy conned the turkey to go to his house, and the turkey went there. The boy said "get in the oven there's a bird in there." So the turkey did, and the next day was Thanksgiving, and they ate the turkey. The end.

Cliff Keelin: Thanksgiving. You better get in turkey or I'll shoot you then put you in the oven then eat you up.

Laura Crites: A Live Turkey. I would tell it there was some seeds in there. The turkey go half way in and he realize he got tricked. He ran out of the oven but he had eaten all of the seeds) he ran out of the door. The End. Happy Thanksgiving.

Jennifer Stovall: A Turkey That Would Not Go in the Oven. I would tell that his family is in there and food is in there too. You go in. Your family is missing you, and if you do not get in this oven I will shoot you. The End.

Jennifer Gilkey: The Turkey that tried to get away. One day I saw a turkey at a farm. I bought it for Thanksgiving. At first we tried to catch the turkey but it kept running away. I finally caught it. I took it home and tried to get him in the oven. Then I said there are worms in the oven. Tomorrow is Thanksgiving, the turkey tried to get out but I put him back in the oven. The End!

Michael Pegg: The Stupid Turkey. One day a pilgrim named Saseow found a turkey. He would not go in the oven. I thought he (the turkey) would go for a trick, and he did. The day came. It was good for me and the turkey.

Amanda Brazee: The Turkey. One time there was a turkey his name was Harry. Everybody laughed at him because he was Harry. One time this man picked him up he put him in the oven but he would not go in so the man put this costume on. Then the turkey got in the oven. So on the next day it was Thanksgiving. The End.

Daniel Walton: The First Thanksgiving. The First Thanksgiving we got a turkey two days before Thanksgiving. We went to the dining room floor and kitchen. Then we tried to cook the turkey. He would not go. I told him there was some food in the oven, and he went so fast I did not see him go. One Thanksgiving we ate him.

Bryan D. Johnson: Getting a turkey in a oven. It was Thanksgiving. And we were trying to get a turkey in the oven. We tried everything. We tried to sing him to sleep but every time we moved him he would wake up. We tried kicking him. We tried pushing him. We even tried threatening him. We tried one last turn. And that was being friendly. We were as friendly and as nice as we could be. Finally we got the turkey in the oven. And that day was Thanksgiving and we had a plump juicy turkey for Thanksgiving. The End.

Nicole McDowell: Once upon a time there was a kid named Nicole. She had to find a turkey but it was hard. She said, "while she was looking. After a while she found it it was a turkey. She shot it and I said drop dead and it did. The next day was Thanksgiving. The End."

Daniel Timko: The Turkey that was nice and mean. The Turkey was mean at this time, and the boy named Mark tried to get him in the oven. Then his mom came home. "Mark did you get the Turkey in the oven." No man it won't listen to me. At this time the Turkey was nice. If we don't get him in the oven we will starve.

Tommy Cell: The Thanksgiving Turkey. One day a boy named Tommy found a turkey. He brought it home. It looked very good. "Now get inside that oven." "Noway" said the turkey. I said "shut up and get in that oven right now are you trying to make me hungry. I baked a cake for you. Will you get it out for me. Shur said the turkey. So he grabbed the cake and slammed himself in the oven and cooked himself.

Adam K. Ebrecht: The Turkey Hunt. Come her turkey. I want you to get into the oven. So I can cook you for Thanksgiving day, so we can eat on Thanksgiving day with our parents on Thanksgiving so you better get in there and get in there quick or we will make you get in there quick. The End.

Ralph: The turkey that would not go in the oven. One year in the woods. The person that caught the turkey took it home. He tried and tried he would not go in. So he told the turkey to shut up and get in the oven he still would not go in so he told the turkey if he did not shut up and get in the oven he would chop it's head off and the turkey went in the oven the next day was Thanksgiving day and they ate him all up.

April: We like you very much. I am going to my house. We you like to go in my house. I take you in my house so you can take a bath. You can take a sunbathe. The sunbathe is open. You can go on in to the sunbathe. Turkey I go of the house. You be in sunbathe room. The End.

Reviews and previews

Wolf seeks 7th term in House

State Rep. Sam Wolf, D-Granite City, announced last week he will seek his seventh term in the 111th District as a member of the House of Representatives. He said his work in the legislature is something that he's been able to build on through the years, an advantage newcomers to the House do not have.

Council warned on annexation

The Granite City Council was warned last week to beware of annexing an apparently flood-prone area. Opposition to annexing part of Evergreen Subdivision was expressed by Nameoki Township resident Helen Hawkins, who has fought to keep development out of the area. County law prohibits building in the slough.

'Children's Tree' to help needy

Beginning Friday, those interested in helping a needy children can select an angel tag from a Christmas tree at the entrance of K mart, 3655 Nameoki Road. The tag will have the first name and clothing size of a needy child. Participants are then asked to buy a gift of clothing and return it gift-wrapped by Dec. 19. The tree is being sponsored by Granite City K mart and the Press-Record/Journal.

50 years ago

Approximately 150 children participated in the Pet and Hobby Parade, which opened the holiday season. There were many odd-looking pets being carried or led by the children. Every participant received a gift for being in the parade.

Tell it like it is

Q: Do you think Granite City has adequate day care facilities for children?

Pat Peters

"No, I don't believe Granite City has adequate day care for children. Last year, my son attended Marshall School. I work full time and no day care would transport him to or from school!"

— Madison Avenue

Noreen Mueller

"Yes, my child goes to Happy Day Child Development Center, and they're pretty good."

Linda Finazzo

"I'm pleased with the teachers here and how they take the time to teach children different things. Generally, they care about Amy, my daughter."

— Kathy Drive

NEXT WEEK: What's your opinion about public officials attending out-of-town conventions at public expense? To record your answer, phone 452-0222 between 5:30 p.m. and 8 a.m. daily. Leave your name, address, hometown and phone number.

Quote of the week

"The state's attorney's opinions carry, or at least should carry, a lot of weight and value for local officials. It's not just another law office," said lawyer Bill Haine, campaigning to be Madison County's next state's attorney.

Sweat shop program still exists for nurses

In 1984 this column sought to sound an alarm in behalf of overworked hospital interns and their patients.

Interns and residents, required to be on duty up to 60 hours without a formal break, were asleep on their feet much of the day, nodding off at the surgery table, making life and death judgments when they were too exhausted to sign their own names.

Paul Harvey News

By Paul Harvey
L.A. Times Syndicate

In the years since, the American Medical Association has acknowledged that the pressures on young doctors are now too heavy.

Dr. William Jacott, chairman of the AMA Council on Medical Education, said, "We realize that stress is a critical part of the educational program but we want it better under control."

Now we have the word of health officials and the judgment of grand juries that exhausted interns and residents have caused patients' deaths.

According to news stories, March 4, 1984, an 18-year-old woman walked into Manhattan's New York Hospital with an earache.

Hours later, strapped untended in her bed, she died in a raging fever, a "medical accident."

The young woman had been administered a drug that worsened her condition — then placed in the care of unsupervised interns working long hours who failed to give her proper attention.

An "iatrogenic accident." That means the death was not caused by the disease — but by the treatment.

"Iatrogenic accidents" occur much more often than the public knows.

Doctors, of all people, should know better. Sleep deprivation impairs performance, robs the individual of sharp reactions and the ability for critical thinking.

Today's sleep-robed doctors work in an environment that is already chaotic, complex, dependent on machinery that must be used and interpreted with precision.

The brutal "professional haze," which once upon a time may have been a valid test of competency under fire, in today's medical environment is indefensibly sadistic.

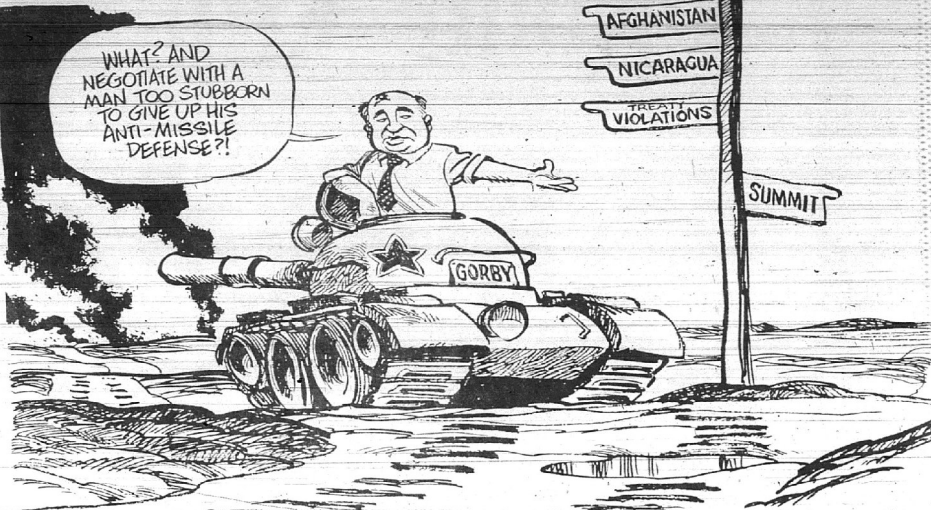

New York is a leading center of medical education, training 10 percent of all our nation's doctors. New York is presently contemplating new state hospital regulations that would limit interns to 15-hour shifts.

The new regulations would also provide for increased supervision of interns.

Dr. Alvin Kahn of Brookdale Hospital Medical Center in Brooklyn supervises 300 interns and residents. He said "shorter hours would produce better medicine; there would be less fatigue, less danger of mistakes."

New York's lead will be followed elsewhere.

Charles Yokum, of the American College of Emergency Physicians, calls New York's move a "historic step," the beginning of the end of the outdated medication marathon.

Indonesian animal potential meat-producer

Throughout human history, mankind has relied on animals as a source of protein. In our modern society, major sources of animal protein are limited. Cattle and pigs are the chief sources of meat. Chicken, turkey, duck, sheep and a few others also are included in our pool of domesticated meat-producers.

Superimposed on this limited number of meat animals are religious bans. Several religions prohibit the consumption of pork. This provides a severe restriction on protein sources.

Recently, a proposal was made to make use of a pig-like animal that lives in the Indonesian area of southeast Asia, the babirusa. This wild animal is a very efficient producer of protein material — much more so, in fact, than the pig, according to some preliminary studies. Even though the pig is excluded by some religions, the babirusa has not been.

Another practical problem has appeared as well. The reproductive rate of the babirusa is considerably slower than that of the domesticated pig. Pigs have large litters. But it is assumed that the same agricultural practices mankind has used for centuries to develop our current domesticated meat animals will surmount this difficulty.

The babirusa still is being investigated as a potential domesticated meat animal. Sometime, in the fairly distant future, we may be eating babirusa chops.

Granite City police

2 charged with forgery

Sonia Valencia Garrett, 20, 121 Lee Wright Homes, and Jacqueline Wallace, 21, 61 Lee Wright Homes, both of Venice, were arrested Nov. 18 and charged with forgery on a complaint by First Granite City National Bank, Police Facility, 3206 Nameoki Road. The two allegedly deposited three checks from a closed account into a checking account and then attempted to withdraw the money.

Car hits school bus

A woman was injured, but not hospitalized, after her car struck a school bus at 8:23 a.m. Nov. 19.

School bus driver William Lee, 3124 Colgate Place, who was exiting Coolidge Junior High School and waiting to turn left onto Nameoki Road, said she had stopped to allow an oncoming car to turn. As she was waiting, she said she was struck from the side by another car.

The car's driver, Mary Long, 3208 Erin Drive, said she had the green light.

Car wash coin box opened

Phillip Ross, owner of the Granite City Car Wash, 3653 Nameoki Road, said that early Nov. 18 two coin boxes of outside vacuum cleaners were paid open and an undetermined amount of quarters were taken.

Tires cut at Prather

Three employees of Prather School, 2300 W. 25th St., reported some type of sharp tool was used to scratch the finish of their cars parked on the school lot Nov. 12.

Damaged were the front and side of the cars of Betty Doyle, 3225 Harvard Place, Janine Sherman, Alton, and Carla Ashmore, 256 Stratford Lane.

Car hits overpass wall

Robert W. Blackwell, 29, 2112 Nevada Ave., was admitted to St. Elizabeth Medical Center after his car hit the retaining wall of the 19th Street overpass at 1:31 a.m. Nov. 15.

Blackwell said he was going west on 19th Street when a wheel suddenly gave way, causing him to lose control of his car and veer to the left. Before coming to a stop, the car hit the wall twice. Blackwell was issued tickets for reckless driving and driving while his license was suspended.

Four-vehicle accident

Wet pavement was blamed on a four-car accident at 3:15 p.m. Nov. 16.

While waiting to make a left turn onto Leonard Avenue, Catherine A. Wise, 1929 St. Clair Ave., was stopped in the southbound lane of Nameoki Road when she was hit by the car of Timothy Dillard, 2725 Sunset Drive, after his car was also struck from behind. The third driver, Tammy M. Saggio, Caseyville, said she was unable to stop her pickup truck due to the wet pavement. A fourth car, driven by David R. McGuire, 1848 Bremen Ave., then hit Saggio's truck.

Injured, but not hospitalized, were Dillard and two passengers in Wise's car, Jennifer Wise, 10, and Betty Wise, 14.

Burglary warrant served

John "Buddy" Harrison, 42, Collinsville, was arrested on the St. Clair County felony warrant for burglary after he was a passenger in a car stopped on a traffic charge Nov. 13.

One driver injured

in three-car accident
James L. Brombauer, 20, 1624 Cleveland Blvd., was injured, but not hospitalized, after his car hit the rear of another automobile and pushed it into a car waiting to turn into the alley on Rock Road at 3:27 p.m. Nov. 19.

The other drivers were Ina E. McCoy, 2949 Madison Ave., and Alice J. Hall, 2504 1/2 W. 20th St.

Crossing guard twists arm

as van strikes hand sign
A crossing guard posted at St. Elizabeth School was injured when a gust of wind pushed her hand-held stop sign into a step van about 8:02 a.m. Nov. 18 in the 2300 block of Pontoon Road.

The guard, Cathy E. Bobb, 40,

161 Briarcliff Drive, who had just guided children across the street, said she had returned to the shoulder of the road when the wind blew her sign, causing it to strike the van. The accident caused her arm to twist.

Bobb said the van went through the west traffic signal.

The driver, Robert A. Schaus, 2837 Ralph St., who was found by a patrolman in the 3700 block Nameoki Road, said he had accelerated as he saw the guard move from the road, and as he passed her she swung her stop sign at the truck, striking his right, front fender. Schaus said he did not know what color the signal was.

Turns gas on at house

Gene Stockman, 3013 Edgewood Ave., said someone entered his house while he was away and turned on the gas to his stove Nov.

18. Nothing else appeared to be disturbed.

Tampering with aircraft smoke detectors should be felony: Durbin

SPRINGFIELD — U.S. Rep. Dick Durbin, D-Springfield, who has been pushing for a ban on smoking in airliners, has now proposed legislation making it a felony to tamper with smoke detectors in the bathrooms of the aircraft.

Durbin said his new bill is in response to critics of the smoking ban, who argued it would lead to more attempts to "sneak" a smoke in the lavatory of an aircraft.

However, Durbin said flight attendants have reported surreptitious smoking in airplane bathrooms on flights with designated smoking sections.

The airlines have been required to install smoke detectors in the aircraft lavatories since 1985.

Lavatory smoking was blamed for a 1983 Air Canada disaster in which 23 died. Durbin said a Piedmont Airlines flight this summer was forced to make an emergency landing after a smoke detector went off in a lavatory.

"If a passenger does start a fire in the lavatory, the lives of everyone on board depend on the flight crew's ability to respond fast. An inoperative smoke detector could cause the loss of precious seconds, jeopardizing the lives of hundreds of passengers," Durbin said.

He said he was surprised to learn there is no law to stop people from tampering with smoke detectors in airplanes.

His amendment to ban smoking on airline flights was approved by the House in July. A similar provision was approved by the Senate last month.

Toy classification system fosters well-rounded play

By Jane Cosby
Staff affiliate

If you haven't visited the toy stores yet to make your Christmas purchases, don't despair. Some careful thinking and advance planning can simplify that mammoth annual shopping task.

The first step is to survey the toys your child already owns. While doing this, think of his toy collection in terms of a wardrobe. In the same way that you balance your wardrobe with clothes for different occasions, you want to balance his toy collection with toys that stimulate different kinds of play.

When you add new toys to his toy "wardrobe," complement the items he already owns with new ones in play areas that are not already represented.

Provide toys in the following five play areas and your child will have opportunities to develop a wide array of skills.

•Thinking and Cognitive Play: Toys in this area develop a child's mind by encouraging abstract thinking and building imagination and creativity. They usually involve problem solving.

The types of toys that do this are building or construction sets, blocks, toys that come apart and model kits, magic sets, and model kits and hobby sets that require assembly. Scientific toys or tools also stimulate thinking skills. These would include microscopes, telescopes, magnets, compasses, scales, batteries and switches, chemistry or physics sets.

•Gross Motor Play: Toys in this area require total body movement and exercise the large muscles of the body. These toys are especially important when you consider the amount of time most children spend passively watching television. Toys in this category include riding vehicles, playground equipment, balls, sports equipment, rocking toys, jump ropes, large floor blocks, climbing ropes, tumbling mats, skates, skis and sleds.

•Expressive Play: This type of play allows a child to express his ideas and thoughts in various media. Give your child a variety of materials to choose from and he can then start to make choices and form preferences.

Expressive toys would include art materials like paint, clay, chalk, crayons, and markers. Musical instruments, puppets and marionettes, records or music for dancing, a typewriter or other writing materials, wood-working tools and craft sets are other examples of expressive toys.

•Pretend Play: Toys in this category allow children to "become" other things and act out their fantasies and fears.

Almost any toy can become a tool for make-believe in the hands of a child, but some toys are designed to stimulate this type of play. These would include dolls and doll furniture, stuffed animals, small vehicles, miniature people play sets, costumes, medical or tool kits, housekeeping equipment and "make-believe" equipment of all kinds.

•Social Play: This type of play teaches the child how to get along with others. Board games, card games, and team sports are examples of social play.

Many toys fit in more than one play category. Some items, like books, are going to be impossible to categorize. Don't worry about having to determine the category of each toy.

Melinda Pucker Local girl wins debate tourney

Melinda Pucker, a senior at Granite City High School, won the Belleville West Debate Tournament, held recently at Belleville West High School.

After five preliminary rounds of competition, she advanced to the quarterfinals. Pucker defeated students from Belleville West during the semi-finals and finals in a 3-0 decision.

Bryan Turner, also from Granite City High School, was eliminated in the quarterfinals.

Nineteen schools competed in the event.

At the Illinois State Debate Tournament, held at Illinois State University, Turner and Pucker were both quarterfinalists. Following five preliminary rounds, Pucker was the only 3-0 debater out of 10. She was awarded as being the top speaker, having more speaker points than any speaker in the tournament.

Turner was eliminated in the quarterfinals and Pucker in the semi-finals.

2 Ron Pennell is the debate coach at the high school.

Park District holds basketball sign-up

The Granite City Park District is registering boys and girls in grades three through six for the Youth Instructional Basketball Program.

The program, which is held at Coolidge Junior High School, is designed to teach sportsmanship and basic fundamental skills. After several weeks of individual skills instruction, the children will be divided into teams and play recreational games.

The cost of the program is $5 for residents and $10 for non-residents. The program is scheduled to begin Nov. 28.

For more information, contact the Wilson Park Office at 877-2059.

Students named to 'Who's Who'

Ten Quad City Area residents are among the 86 Belleville Area College students that were named to "Who's Who Among Students in American Junior Colleges."

Students selected from this area are:

GRANITE CITY — Cindy Broyles, Carla Graham, Laura Ingham, Clintia Parish, Ricky Cooper, Stephen Hall, Thomas Jolly and Janis Smith.

MADISON — Anthony Valentine and Terri Balton.

The students were nominated by faculty and staff members. Criteria for selection includes participation and leadership in academic and co-curricular activities and a minimum of a 2.0 grade point average.

In Who's Who

NIKOLE Keaton, a senior at Granite City High School, will be included in the 21st annual edition of "Who's Who Among American High School Students." She is the daughter of Terry and Sharon Keaton.

Many scholarships and fellowships now taxable

According to the IRS, beginning in 1987, only a candidate for a degree may exclude from income amounts received as a qualified scholarship.

A qualified scholarship is any amount received that is used according to the conditions of the grant for: tuition and fees to enroll in or attend an educational institution, or fees, books, supplies and equipment required for courses at the educational institution.

Other amounts, such as amounts received for room and board or travel, are no longer excludable from income.

The new law also provides that all payments for services must be included in income even if the services are a condition of receiving the grant and required of all candidates for the degree.

This includes amounts received for teaching and research. Also, amounts received under grants in which the recipient is required to perform future services as a federal employee must be included in gross income.

Math exam to be held March 1

High school students in Illinois are invited to participate in the 39th Annual American High School Mathematics Examination (AHSME) on March 1 at schools throughout the state.

The exam, first offered in 1950, covers pre-calculus high school mathematics and is a 30 question, 90-minute test given at the participating schools. Its purpose is to spur interest in mathematics and develop talent through competition at problem solving in a timed format.

High schools are divided into two classes according to size, with an enrollment of 750 as the dividing point. Every participant competes with students at his or her school for a pin, medal or intramural award, with about 22,000 Illinois students for prizes and recognition by the Chicago Actuarial Society, and with about 380,000 students nationally and internationally for regional and national awards.

Students scoring 100 or above on the AHSME qualify for the American Invitational Mathematics Examination (AIME).

The top 100 AIME scorers are invited to take the U.S.A. Math Olympiad exam given in May. That test is an essay and problem-solving type exam from which the top eight students represent the United States in the International Mathematical Olympiad in July.

In March, 5,976 schools and about 379,906 students worldwide were given the AHSME. In Illinois, 240 schools participated. The exam is given to students in Australia, Belgium, Canada, the People's Republic of China, Colombia, England, Finland, Hungary, Ireland, Israel, Italy, Jamaica, Luxembourg and Mexico as well as the U.S.

The exam is sponsored by the Mathematical Association of America, the National Council of Teachers of Mathematics, the Society of Actuaries, Mu Alpha Theta, the Casualty Actuarial Society, the American Statistical Association and the American Association of Two Year Colleges. The National Association of Secondary School Principals has placed the AHSME on its advisory list of contests and activities for 1987-88.

Details concerning the AHSME were sent to Illinois high schools in September and the initial deadline for entries is December 21.

For further information, persons can contact Gary Tippet, Department of Mathematics, Bradley University, Peoria, 61625. The telephone number is (309) 677-2508.

Elegant soup whets appetite

There's nothing quite like soup to whet the appetite and stimulate senses for the food that follows. To impress guests, ladle up a cream soup, preferably one dressed with gorgeous garnishes.

It is easy. Start with a canned creamy soup. With a few simple additions, quality soups are elegant but easy.

Dazzle and delight guests with Shrimp and Lemon Soup, simply prepared by blending creamy broccoli soup with sautéed celery, milk, chopped shrimp and grated lemon rind. To top it off, garnish each serving with a whole shrimp and parsley sprig for a festive display.

Garden Potpourri Soup begins with a convenient can of creamy potato soup with milk and vegetables added before heating. A garnish of bacon is the finishing touch to a soup every bit as flavorful as it is easy to prepare.

Spinach-Mushroom Soup is sophisticated yet satisfying. Simply sauté sliced fresh mushrooms, then stir in creamy spinach soup, milk and rosemary. It is wonderful on the same bill of fare with roast beef or lamb. It also makes a special lunch or light supper, particularly enjoyable after an afternoon outdoors.

Chuck blade makes sizable treat

When looking for economical ways to stretch a food dollar, a beef chuck blade pot roast is a good choice for any size family.

The first step in separating a pot roast is to cut along the side of the seven-shaped bone to separate the top blade from the under blade. Cut the oval-shaped muscle of the top blade in half lengthwise, along the natural seam, removing connective tissue. This meat portion can be cut in strips, marinated and stir-fried for a quick meal for two.

Separate the pot roast further by separating the long center muscle of the under blade meat from the bottom muscle by cutting along the natural seam. This beef pot can be cut further and pounded into thin beef "steaks."

Cut the remainder of the boneless beef chuck under blade pot roast meat into pieces for use in a favorite beef stew.

After dividing the beef chuck blade pot roast into these three meat-sized portions, package and freeze for later use. Label each package indicating cut's name and weight and the date it is frozen.

Of course, combining these bargain meat meals with a microwave oven makes the chef into a magician for getting meals on the table quickly.

Microwave ovens are a convenient necessity for today's busy families. A variety of quick and delicious meals using beef can be added to a microwave cooking repertoire. They are available in a new recipe brochure from the meat board. "Beef Is... A Microwave Favorite."

Break out frozen vegetables when minutes count

Fast, fried, junk and frozen: Some people offer this as a modern concept of the four food groups. They move in the fast lane these days, and the way they eat is determined by this lifestyle. Actually, a freezer case and a microwave oven can become a team to provide nutritious meals with a minimum of work, time and clean-up.

Ever since Clarence Birdseye began his work with frozen vegetables in the early 1900s, the frozen foods industry has made rapid strides in the kind and quality of food that can be brought from freezer to table. Frozen food manufacturers now not only provide well-written, tested directions for microwave preparation, but are also packaging their products in microwave-safe dishes.

Besides cooking frozen foods found in a freezer case, a microwave oven also can speed along the thawing process to make meal preparation faster. Thawing foods in a microwave oven is not only quicker, but can give better results than long-term thawing of some foods. Meals usually lose their juices when thawed slowly, but the rapid thawing in a microwave oven can prevent this loss.

Recipes in the brochure range from main dish salads and soup to sandwiches and steaks, all of which can be prepared in 20 minutes or less. They serve two to four people quickly and easily after a busy day.

To receive a single copy of the recipe brochure, send 50 cents along with name and address to Meat Board, Dept. RME, 444 N. Michigan Ave., Chicago, IL 60611. Allow six to eight weeks for delivery. Here are some samples.

Saucy baked fish or shellfish

1 to 1½ lb. fish steaks, at least 1 inch thick, or 1½ lb. small, whole pan-dressed fish, or equal amount of medium shrimp or scallops, peeled and salted.
 2 tsp. olive or vegetable oil.

 Season fish lightly with salt and pepper. Place in single layer in lightly oiled baking dish.
 Heat olive oil in skillet over medium heat. Sauté onion and garlic until onion is tender. Add stewed tomatoes, zucchini and basil. Simmer, uncovered, until mixture is slightly thickened.
 Spoon sauce over fish. Bake, uncovered, at 450°, allowing about 10 minutes cooking time per inch of thickness or until fish just flakes when tested with fork.
 Yields 4 servings.

Maidens of honor Pastry

 1 tsp. sugar
 ½ cup ground lemon peel
 6 tsp. butter

 Meanwhile, in medium bowl, combine egg yolks, cream, almonds, sugar, lemon peel and flour.
 On floured board, roll pastry ¼-inch thick. Cut into twelve

 Makes 1 dozen tarts.

Turkey salad with oranges and sesame dressing

5 cups shredded fresh spinach leaves
 3 cups cooked turkey, cut in large julienne strips
 3 oranges, peeled, sectioned
 ½ cup sliced radishes
 ½ cup cashew nuts
 ½ cup sliced green onion

 Serve with Spicy Sesame Dressing.
 Yields 4 servings.

Spicy Sesame Dressing

3 tbsp. toasted sesame seeds (See Note)
 3 tsp. vinegar (preferably rice wine vinegar)
 3 tsp. soy sauce
 1½ tsp. grated orange peel
 1 small clove garlic, chopped

Old-fashioned pot pies

6 tbsp. butter or margarine
 1 medium onion, chopped
 ½ cup diced celery
 ½ cup flour
 1 tsp. thyme
 1 tsp. salt
 2½ cups chicken broth
 ½ cup milk or half-and-half 1½ cups sliced carrots (about 3 medium)

 1 cup frozen peas
 3 cups cooked chicken or turkey, cut in bite size chunks
 ½ cup pitted ripe olives, cut in half crosswise or chopped coarsely
 1 tsp. salt
 1 tsp. black pepper
 1 tsp. cayenne pepper
 1 (1 oz.) pkg. pie crust mix or pastry for 2 crust pie
 Melt butter in 3-quart or larger saucepan. Sauté onion and celery in butter until onions are soft and translucent.
 Stir in flour, thyme and allspice. Stir and cook one to two minutes. Gradually add broth. Bring to boil, stirring continuously until mixture thickens. Stir in milk, carrots and peas. Simmer 5 minutes.
 Remove from heat. Stir in chicken and olives. Season with salt, pepper and cayenne pepper to taste.
 Ladle filling into individual 1½- to 2-cup baking dishes or oven-proof bowls. If top of dish is more than 4 to 5 inches in diameter, allow for more pastry.

Prepare pie crust mix following package directions. Roll out pastry on lightly floured surface slightly thicker than for pie crust. Cut pastry to fit top of baking dishes, leaving about a ½-inch overhanging edge.
 Beat egg with 1 tablespoon water to make an egg wash. Brush one side of pastry with egg wash. Lay on top of baking dish; egg wash-side down. Crimp and press pastry to edge of dish. Brush top with egg wash.
 Arrange decorative cut-outs made from pastry trimmings on top. Brush with egg wash. Cut two or three small slits for steam vents.
 Bake at 375° for 35 to 40 minutes, until pastry is crisp and golden brown.
 Makes 6 servings.

Whitey playing coupon Santa For AMC

Cards manager Whitey Herzog, fresh from his European sojourn after the World Series, went before the cameras in St. Louis Nov. 19 to shoot some additional commercials in his role as prime spokesperson for AMC theaters in St. Louis.

In the commercials that will air starting Dec. 7, Whitey will announce that anyone with a paid admission to an AMC theater starting on Dec. 18 will receive a free coupon book good for $200 worth of discounts to various restaurants and stores.

AMC will distribute 100,000 of the discount coupon books in an effort to say "thank you" to their patrons and also to give a boost to the Christmas filmpicking season since both they and their prime competitor in this market, Web reiner theaters, will be exhibiting the same films at the same times, with hardly any important films being exhibited on an exclusive basis by either company.

MUNY DEAL
The Muny has wrapped up a trio of hit Broadway musicals for holiday gift-giving at a 10 percent savings off the regular ticket price. The three-show package features Robert Goulet in "Richard Rodgers and Oscar Hammerstein's South Pacific," Tim Curry in Broadway's happiest show, "Me and My Girl" (for the first time in St. Louis), and Andrew Lloyd Webber's magnificent and mystical "Cats."

"During the holiday season people are shopping for unique and distinctive gifts," said Bill Culver, Muny president. "The Muny's three-show package makes a terrific gift and the special savings offer makes it even more attractive for our customers."

The package is available only for performances at 8 p.m. Tuesdays through Thursdays, 7 p.m. Sundays, and 2 p.m. matinees Saturday and Sunday.

The package may be purchased at the Muny box office in Forest Park or by mail order. Call 361-1900 for details.

OFF TO SEE ABOUT THE WIZARD

It won't be long before the curtain will rise on the first-ever winter theater attraction produced by the Muny. The show is "The Wizard of Oz." The date is Dec. 27. The place is the Fox Theater. The star is Cathy Rigby, who got great notices last summer for her work outdoors at the Muny in Peter Pan.

The director of the show is Susan Schulman. Schulman has directed more than 50 major productions in the last 12 years and has worked for seven years at the Pittsburgh Civic Light Opera. She has an impressive list of off-Broadway credits, including the recent revival of Stephen Sondheim's company. Rehearsals for "The Wizard of Oz" begin in St. Louis Dec. 12. After St. Louis, the company is also scheduled to perform in Pittsburgh and Long Beach.

"Every time I do a show, revivals as well as new shows, I look at it as brand new," Schulman says. "I don't go into any research about how it was done before. I want my ideas to spring directly from the script and the characters. I find in that way my motivation comes directly from the material as opposed to being influenced by other productions."

Schulman says the revivals like "The Wizard of Oz" offer something of great value that, in the past, has not been recognized.

"Opera and ballet have succeeded in doing revivals for centuries," Schulman says. "People expect wonderful ballet or opera to be revived. I think it is terrific that now musical theater has finally taken its place alongside these other two art forms and that people recognize that our musical theater heritage is a national treasure."

"The really great shows should be revived. They should never be left to die. These kinds of shows have changed the tide of American musical theater. The old shows sometimes have to be redone with bright new eyes, however. They should never be just dusted off and thrown onto the stage."

The original production of "The Wizard of Oz" (not to be confused with "The Wiz" from 1975) had its first and only debut back in 1903 at the Majestic Theater in New York. It ran for 293 performances. It was the premiere attraction for the Majestic Theater, which was demolished in 1954.

STAR WARS

Starting Dec. 1, Paramount Pictures is going to wage an all out war against Warner Brothers in an effort to make their long-running hit, "Fatal Attraction," the biggest film of the Christmas season. The Warner Brothers entry, Nuts, starring Barbra Streisand and Richard Dreyfus, is predicted to be the big box-office winner this Christmas season. But Paramount has designed an entirely new marketing plan that will cost millions in an effort to keep "Fatal Attraction" number one.

Showboat plots another course

Frank Pierson is back at the captain's helm of the Goldenrod Showboat, replacing John Auble who has operated the boat under an agreement with Pierson, who owns the boat.

Starting Nov. 27, Pierson has turned the showboat into what he is calling "St. Louis' floating cabaret theater" with the booking of the Tony-winning Fats

Waller musical from 1976, "Ain't Misbehavin'."

Details are still to be finalized as to the actual terms of Pierson's reclaiming of the day-to-day operation of the Goldenrod. In recent years, the venerable showboat has had its financial ups and downs.

Lights festival tradition continues in East Peoria

EAST PEORIA—The Festival of Lights tradition continues as all of East Peoria will again be alight for the holiday season.

From Nov. 28-Jan. 1, East Peoria homes, businesses, streets and plazas will be decorated for all to see.

The Parade of Lights will start the festivities at 6 p.m. Nov. 28 in downtown East Peoria, followed by the opening ceremonies complete with fireworks and the official town "light up."

Some of the highlights include:

- A 35-foot lighted wreath set high atop the river bluff on Fondulac Drive.

- A 17-foot shining star, twinkling from Fondulac Park Hill.

- A 20-foot candle, ablaze with lights, flickering from the fountain at City Hall.

- Two moving light panels featuring the Peoria-marching soldier and the pop-up Jack in the Box.

- An 18-foot lighted Santa Claus will greet those who pass by the four corners of Washington and Main streets.

- A glittering "Welcome to the Festival of Lights" sign accented with snowflakes will be suspended from the Fondulac Drive bridge.

- One-hour light tours will be available to large groups by prior arrangement with the Chamber Ambassadors. For more information, call the East Peoria Chamber of Commerce at 699-6212.

Persons can take a magical stroll through Foley's Enchanted Forest, located on the track by Central Junior High, and catch a glimmer of the local school children's decorations. Their creations, along with pictures designed in lights, set the forest aglow in the Christmas spirit. Santa will add to the enchantment with holiday cheer for all who enter the forest.

The forest will be open every night until 11 p.m. Santa will be there on Sunday through Thursday from 5-9 p.m. and Friday and Saturday from 5-10 p.m.

The true brilliance of Christmas will be displayed with elaborately hand-constructed nativity scenes located in the Fondulac Park District swimming pool area.

The crowning touch to this year's agenda will be the Festival of Lights queen contest. The contest and crowning will take place at the Quail Meadows Country Club at 10 a.m. Nov. 28.

Contestants will be judged on poise, appearance and personality.

"Holiday of Harmony," a song and dance variety show, will be presented by the Belles of Harmony and the Peoria Barbershop Chorus. The evening includes a dinner and show at the East Peoria Holiday Inn on Dec. 8 and 9, starting at 6 p.m.

Lunch with Santa will be held noon Dec. 19 at the East Peoria Bonanza.

An information booth, next to Foley's Forest, will be open from 5-9 p.m. everyday except for Dec. 24 and 25.

Film put on hold

Officials of Universal Pictures are disappointed at box office results for their new film, "Cry Freedom," which opened in five major markets Nov. 6. The film stars Peoria graduate Kevin Kline and Denzel Washington.

"Cry Freedom" is based on the true story of South African black nationalist leader Stephen Biko, who died while in police custody in 1977, and his friendship with a white South African journalist named Donald Woods. Denzel Washington appears as Biko, and Kevin Kline portrays Woods.

While "Cry Freedom" received generally strong notices, the motion picture has been criticized for being more about Woods than Biko. Many reviewers and film commentators felt Biko's story would be told with much more force and emphasis than it is in "Cry Freedom."

Because of the poor opening, Universal has canceled plans to open "Cry Freedom" on a national basis until around the time of the Academy Awards in 1988. The studio hopes the film will receive some nominations, and therefore, be more marketable at that time.

Tentative equalization factor for properties

Madison County was issued a tentative property assessment equalization factor of 1.0233, according to Roger D. Sweet, director of the Illinois Department of Revenue.

The property assessment equalization factor, often called the "multiplier," is the legal method used to achieve uniform property assessments among counties. Equalization is important because some of the state's major local taxing districts overlap into two or more counties (such as school districts, junior college districts, fire protection districts). Without equalization among counties, inequities among taxpayers with comparable properties would result.

State law requires property in Illinois to be assessed at one-third of its market value. Farm property is assessed differently, with farm homesites and dwellings subject to regular assessing and equalization procedures, but with farmland and farm buildings assessed according to standards based on productivity.

The equalization factor is determined annually for each county by comparing the sales price of individual properties sold over the past three years to the assessed value placed on those properties by the county assessor.

If this three-year average level of assessment is one-third of market value, the equalization factor will be one. If the average level of assessment is greater than one-third of market value, the equalization factor will be less than one. And if the average level of assessment is less than one-third of market value, the equalization factor will be greater than one.

Assessments in Madison County are at 32.37 percent of market value, based on sales of properties in 1984, 1985 and 1986.

The equalization factor is for 1987 taxes, payable in 1988.

Last year's equalization factor for the county was 1.0.

The tentative factor is subject to change if the county board of review takes actions which significantly affect the county assessments or if someone can present data showing that the Department of Revenue's estimates of the average level of assessments in the county should be adjusted. A public hearing on the tentative factor is scheduled.

Simon on Iran policy: 'Laws were broken'

By David Rocks
P-R/J Washington bureau

WASHINGTON — Illinois senators blasted the final Iran-Contra committee report last Wednesday, blasting the administration's covert supply operation as illegal.

The report said President Reagan led his administration into a crisis by allowing a "cabal of zealots" to take control of policy and operate outside the law.

"The common ingredients of the Iran and Contra policies were secrecy, deception and disdain for the law," said the majority section of the 690-page report.

Sen. Paul Simon, D-Ill., issued a statement saying the report points up the danger of excessive secrecy.

"The report makes clear what the American people already know — that laws were broken and the public trust betrayed," said Simon, a presidential candidate. "Excessive secrecy and covert actions at odds with our declared foreign policy cannot long remain hidden."

"The result is a public failure and a worldwide loss of credibility," he said.

Simon's colleague, Alan J. Dixon, also a Democrat, said

Reagan administration officials "showed contempt for the democratic process."

"Congress, the secretary of state and the American people were deceived," Dixon said. "This report clearly demonstrates a disregard for the law and I encourage the independent counsel to pursue its criminal investigation."

Project to recognize female Vietnam vets

Veterans Day 1987 held a special meaning for the Vietnam Women's Memorial Project. From that day on, project volunteers have 12 months to capture the attention and support of the American people.

At the end of that 12 months, the members of the project plan to dedicate an addition to the Vietnam Veterans Memorial in Washington, a statue of a woman to show awareness that women did indeed serve their country during the Vietnam War. To achieve their goals, the project will need to raise $12 million in private donations.

"So often when people learn that I served in Vietnam their first response is, 'Gee, women served in Vietnam?'" explained Donna Marie Boulay, a co-founder of the Vietnam Women's Memorial Project and a Vietnam veteran.

People simply don't picture women as veterans, it's not the complete picture, and it's not historically accurate.

"About 250,000 thousand American women served during the Vietnam War. Between 8,000 and 10,000 of us were stationed in Vietnam, some of us were wounded, some were captured and some died," Boulay said.

"The losses the United States suffered in Vietnam were tragic, but without women serving in the Vietnam War many more Americans would not have come home."

Ninety percent of the women who served in Vietnam were nurses in the Armed Forces and U.S.A.I.D. It was the first time women had been stationed in a foreign war and guerrilla warfare. Boulay said women came back with much of the same postwar trauma as the men.

"Women lived and worked amidst battle conditions," Boulay said. "We often put in 12 to 16 hours a day. We rarely had down time, no chance to be bored. Working and caring and listening was the rule of every day for us.

"We were there. We experienced war. We were patriots; we just want people to know and remember," Boulay said.

One of the ways Boulay and the VWMP hope this will be accomplished is by adding a monument to the existing Vietnam Veterans Memorial. As a part of the existing memorial, the bronze statue of a female veteran would be dedicated to the men and women of the Armed Forces of the United States who served in the Vietnam War.

Off-duty police officer arrested in highway firing

By Matt Hall
Staff affiliate

An off-duty St. Louis police officer has been charged with firing two shots at another motorist on Interstate 70 in Normandy earlier this month.

The officer's arrest is believed to be the first arrest of a person actually involved in any of the rash of highway shooting incidents that have plagued the metropolitan St. Louis area in the last several weeks.

Patrolman Roosevelt Goodwin, 35, was charged in a warrant with first-degree assault and armed criminal action in St. Louis County Circuit Court. Bond was initially set at $25,000, but Goodwin was released on his own recognizance.

A seven-year veteran, Goodwin was suspended without pay pending the outcome of the county's criminal investigation and an investigation being conducted by the city police department's Internal Affairs Division, said Maj. James McGauley. At the time of his suspension, Goodwin was assigned to the Carondelet District in south St. Louis.

Goodwin, of the 4800 block of Cupples Place, has denied involvement in the shooting. Authorities say Goodwin is not a suspect in any of the other 11 confirmed highway shooting incidents, all but two of which have

"We have no reason to believe (Goodwin) was involved with any of the other shooting incidents," said St. Louis County Prosecuting Attorney George R. "Buzz" Westfall. "This was just a dispute between two motorists. It was an isolated incident, but a very nasty one."

The case will be presented to a grand jury in the next two to three weeks, Westfall said.

The shooting occurred about 7 p.m. Thursday, Nov. 5, according to a police report. A 40-year-old Florissant man called police after exiting I-70 at South Florissant Road and told them he believed he had been shot at on the highway. The man was not

According to the victim, the incident began when he entered westbound I-70 at Jennings Station Road. The man was driving in the far right lane when a car quickly came up from behind him and flashed its bright lights.

The victim moved his car into the middle lane and the other car passed him on the right, according to a police report. Near the Lucas and Hunt Road interchange, the victim heard a shot and saw a flash come from the other car.

Another mile down the highway near the Bermuda Road interchange, the victim saw the driver of the other car point a revolver at him, according to the police report. The victim said he heard another shot and saw a flash come from the barrel of the revolver. The assailant then exited onto Bermuda Road and the victim called police from a service station at the next exit.

Another motorist who witnessed the shooting also exited the highway and was able to give police the license number of the car and descriptions of the driver and the car.

Normandy police officers Sgt. Don Pollak and Patrolman Ken Wallingsford investigated the incident. The car involved is registered to Goodwin at a Hanley street address, but the owner of that home told the officers, that Goodwin didn't live there and that he was a police officer in the city.

The officers contacted the St. Louis Police Department and told them they needed to question him in relation to the incident.

The day following the shooting, Internal Affairs detectives accompanied Goodwin and two other people to the Normandy police station for questioning.

Goodwin told police that he had loaned his car to the two people, a man and a woman, he had brought along to the station.

After Goodwin and the Internal Affairs detectives left the station, Pollak and Wallingsford questioned the man and the woman. At first they both said they were in the car and had also heard popping noises on the highway that sounded like gunfire.

After further questioning, the two recanted their stories and told police that Goodwin had offered them money to make up the story.

"The woman told the man that they would get paid good money," (by Goodwin to cover for him), a police source said. "Goodman was supposed to have made the Goodwin, accompanied by his attorney, was brought in for further questioning late Nov. 8. He denied he was in the car at the time of the shooting.

Goodwin was booked Nov. 9 and warrants were issued later the same day. Goodwin was released Nov. 11.

Earlier this year, freeway shootings in southern California near Los Angeles left five people dead and 14 injured and made headlines for about 3½ months. Many of these shootings were the result of motorist disputes.

The earliest known highway shooting incident in this area occurred Oct. 22 on Illinois Route 15 near Interstate 255. No one was injured in that incident although the window of a Ford Bronco was shot out.

Eight more shooting incidents were reported in the Metro East area, including the shooting death of Todd E. Scrum, 21, 9 Mercer Drive, on Oct. 24 while driving on Interstate 270, north of Granite City. A $10,000 reward for information is being offered in that case. The last incident occurred Nov. 5, the same day as the shooting in which Goodwin has been charged.

East-West Gateway adopts budget

By Buck Collier
Staff writer

ST. LOUIS—The East-West Gateway Coordinating Council, the metro area's chief planning agency, will spend about $500,000 less next year than this year, according to a budget adopted by its directors.

The agency's fiscal year begins in January. In a recent meeting of the board of directors, a budget containing revenues and expenditures of $2,462,265 was adopted. That compared with estimated expenditures of $2,960,580 this year.

The 1988 budget compares with 1986 expenditures of $4,611,379. One reason for the major decrease is in the amount of anticipated federal grants, which are down almost $2 million in 1988 from 1986.

The council gets its money from a variety of sources with the bulk coming from various federal agencies. In 1988, it's estimated that $1.6 million will come from the federal government. The state is expected to provide $277,300. Slightly more than $200,000 will come from the 9-cent per capita allocation from the seven local counties and St. Louis.

A breakdown of local funding anticipated in 1988 shows:

- $87,651 from St. Louis County.
- $40,778 from St. Louis.
- $25,882 from St. Clair County.
- $22,230 from Madison County.
- $13,136 from Jefferson County.
- $12,970 from St. Charles County.
- $6,411 from Franklin County.
- $1,810 from Monroe County.

The major expenditure is for salaries and benefits, estimated at $1,348,300, compared with $1,417,492 estimated in 1987.

Police will work hard Thanksgiving

The Illinois State Police is giving special C.A.R.E. to Thanksgiving, according to State Police Director Jeremy D. Margolis.

C.A.R.E.—the acronym which stands for Combined Accident Reduction Effort, is a nationwide traffic safety program which involves all state police departments, Margolis said.

Often referred to as "Operation C.A.R.E.," the nationwide program allows each state to establish its own level of individual involvement in committing resources to traffic patrol and enforcement during all major holiday periods.

"During the Thanksgiving holiday period in Illinois, that commitment will be significant," Margolis said.

According to state police, the nation's highways carry more holiday travelers during Thanksgiving than any other holiday period. Officially, the holiday period this year begins at 6 p.m. Wednesday, Nov. 25, and ends Nov. 26 at midnight.

Last year, 443 people died in traffic accidents during the Thanksgiving holiday, 16 of those deaths occurred in Illinois.

"In an effort to hold the line on holiday traffic deaths and injuries, state troopers will focus their attention on motorists who commit moving violations," Margolis said.

State police will be especially watchful for drivers who appear to be driving under the influence of alcohol.

"Those drivers will be viewed as public enemy number one," Margolis said.

Strict enforcement of speed limits and the use of seat belts and child safety seats can also be expected.

Clinton County Dems back Jerry Costello

Clinton County Democrats on Nov. 12 endorsed Jerry Costello for Congress in the 21st Congressional District.

The endorsement was announced by Robert Schneider, chairman of Clinton County Democratic Central Committee.

"Jerry Costello is honest, intelligent, hard working and has a well-documented ability to solve problems and to get things done," Schneider said.

Schneider said that, to date, every county Democratic organization that has made an endorsement for Congress has endorsed Jerry Costello.

"Our county of Clinton joins Madison, St. Clair and Bond counties in our support of Jerry Costello," Schneider said.

Lights are shining

Approximately 900,000 Christmas lights, which outline the skyline surrounding the Anheuser-Busch brewery complex, was turned on during a holiday lighting ceremony Nov. 20.

More than 9,400 lights adorn the 65-foot Douglas fir Christmas tree, located outside the Bevo plant at the corner of Broadway and Pestalozzi streets.

Friends greet bank customers

Central Bank, 1909 Edison Ave., announced two people have recently joined the staff.

Clara Parker and Bill Evans will work one day each month to greet their friends and to discuss Social Security and other banking questions.

"We love it," said Evans. Customers should be called by name. Service is most important."

Evans, who joined the staff of the downtown bank in 1981 as a teller, was promoted to head teller in 1988. He retired in 1980. Parker joined the staff to promote the annual Christmas Club in 1959. She became a teller in 1960 and retired in 1986.

Evans said he is delighted to be back at the bank.

"As long as I have my public, I'm happy," he said.

Bart Solon, president of Central Bank, said he is pleased to have them back.

"It's most gratifying to see the high level of customer satisfaction that has developed through the many years of outstanding service on the part of both Bill and Clara."

Customers can visit Parker and Evans in the bank's main lobby. For exact dates and times, telephone 876-1212.

Lawyer-scholar doubts guilt of Sacco, Vanzetti

Sacco-Vanzetti is aptly called "The Case That Will Not Die."

Midson County attorney Burton Bernard of Granite City is fascinated by the unique case.

He has donated a six-volume record of the executed men to the Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville.

Hiss Bernard always been interested in Sacco-Vanzetti.

"Not really. I knew nothing about it, for example, during my years in law school at Harvard."

It really stems back to my high school years in Granite City, when I had a speech teacher named Mary Blackburn who frequently had us read from various plays and poems, general literary works.

"One of the things we read from was Maxwell Anderson's great Broadway hit, the poetic drama 'Winterset,' a hit of the '30s. I was greatly impressed with the work itself, but didn't learn until after her death many years later that the play was based on the Sacco-Vanzetti case and that at the time of the execution, she was studying near Boston and attended the wake for the two executed men."

"I learned all this while I was preparing a eulogy on the occasion of her death."

In the past two years, two new books on the case have been published. A third book is being reached for publication during the coming year, Bernard said.

Publication of the trial's records for public libraries is highly unusual, Bernard added.

Although the case was a cause celebre in the 1920s, most people today have forgotten it, or never heard of it, Bernard said.

It began in April 1916 with the shooting deaths of the paymaster and a guard at a South Braintree, Mass., shoe factory. The killings occurred during a robbery which netted less than $16,000.

In May of the same year, Nicola Sacco and Bartolomeo Vanzetti, two Italian immigrants, were arrested and indicted for the crime.

Bernard said two trial records on the case were published. The first, the Henry Holt edition, was published in 1923-29. There are 150 copies in libraries in the United States, Bernard said he was unable to locate any copies of the Holt edition.

The set of books at SIUE are the Appel edition (Appel Venn, N.Y.) published in 1969. There are 250 copies in libraries in 41 states and the District of Columbia.

"I suspect there is no other criminal case record of which there are copies in so many places," Bernard said.

In Illinois, there are copies of the Appel edition at various universities, including SIUE, Eastern Illinois University, Elmhurst College, SIUC and Illinois State University in Springfield.

Sacco and Vanzetti's trial ran from May to mid-July of 1921 when they were convicted. They were sentenced to die in April 1927 and were executed Aug. 23, 1927.

Between the end of their trial and their execution, countless motions and appeals were denied, in courts ranging from the court of trial through the Supreme Judicial Court of Massachusetts and U.S. Supreme Court, Bernard said.

The governor of Massachusetts denied clemency on advice of a special advisory committee, which included the presidents of Harvard and MIT. During the same period, thousands demonstrated, marched and protested on behalf of the two convicted men in Boston, New York, Chicago and throughout the world.

Many of the American protesters represented the arts. poet Edna St. Vincent Millay, John Dos Passos, Katherine Anne Porter. In Boston, protesters included representatives of Beacon Hill and Back Bay. To no effect.

"No motive for the robbery was ever found, nor was any of the stolen money ever found," said Bernard. "A cell-mate on death row confessed to the murder, prior to their execution, but no real investigation was made."

There were reasons to suspect the robbery-killing may have been the work of a Rhode Island gang, he said.

"Neither man had a previous criminal record and neither was an original suspect in the case. Many questions still exist regarding ballistics tests, and both men had witnesses as to their whereabouts at the time of the crime."

Both men were armed when they were arrested and both originally lied to police, Bernard said.

"They admitted their lies during the actual trial and explained the reasons for the guns they carried—that they were anarchists, at a time when that was a dangerous thing to be. It was time when the Palmer raids were going on throughout the country."

Both men also admitted to having been draft dodgers. Many believed, and still believe, that the two were tried, convicted and executed for their political beliefs. It was the Great American Red Scare of the post-World War I years.

Bernard has compiled a "rich" lode of information on the case, including some fairly esoteric items. He has learned, for example, that at least part of the remains of the two (both were cremated) are in the Boston Public Library.

John C. Abbott, research collections librarian at Lovejoy Library, arranged the donated records, together with a substantial collection of written work on Sacco-Vanzetti.

The display opened on the 60th anniversary of their death. Bernard believes it may be the only formal observance of the occasion in the country.

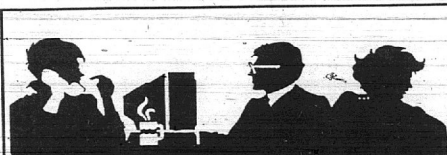

Ten years ago, Gov. Michael Dukakis of Massachusetts issued a proclamation on the 50th anniversary of the death of the two men. A memorial day for Sacco-Vanzetti, the proclamation erased any stigma or disgrace to their names, their families and their descendants, some contend.

It asked for the public resolve to prevent "forces of intolerance, fear and hatred from ever again uniting to overcome rationality, wisdom and fairness to which our legal system aspires."

His proclamation was roundly condemned by some. In New York City, plans for a similar observance were dropped in the interests of avoiding controversy.

Does Bernard feel the two men were guilty of the crime? "Doubt is the best word I can think of. Substantial doubt."

Cleta Judd, St. Joseph organist, retires

Cleta Judd, well-known organist and choir director of St. Joseph Catholic Church, 21st and State streets, has announced her retirement after 67 years.

A special Mass in Judd's honor will be celebrated at 9:30 a.m. on Sunday, Nov. 29.

Judd's career began when she was asked to play Easter Sunday, 1920, when organist Sister Clare was sick and unable to perform. Judd played that Sunday although she was so young her feet were unable to reach the pedals. Sister Clare was transferred, and Judd assumed full responsibilities. At this time, she led the Children's Choir, Boy's Choir and an Adult Choir.

For about 30 years, Judd played at the 6:30 and 8 a.m. daily Masses, as well as two Sunday Masses.

She is a graduate of Kroeger School of Music. She played at many important events, including first Mass and dedication of St. Joseph Church on Christmas

Cleta Judd

1921, the laying of the cornerstone of the original Sacred Heart Church and the 100th Anniversary of St. Elizabeth Church, which was originally in Mitchell.

Judd said she has enjoyed sharing the first masses of Monsignor Paul Sheridan and the Revs. Virgil Mank and David Indermitch. When asked how many priests for which she had played, she said "too many to remember."

Although Judd is able to be a part of many important events, what the more than 300 St. Joseph's families remember is "Cleta has always been there."

She played for graduations, First Communions and confirmations. "She is always there to enjoy our happiness in our weddings and share our sorrow with our loved ones at the funerals. Cleta always encourages us to choose the music we desire," a spokesman said. "Cleta is an integral part of St. Joseph Church, as was her late husband Francis 'Chubby' Judd."

Among outstanding young women

sings with the young adult group, "Agape."

She is a member of the Singing Illinoisans, based in Springfield. The group has performed in many states and in Ecuador, South America.

Cornett, a legal secretary with a major law firm in St. Louis, has been a member of the U.S. Army Reserves medical unit.

Why Bifocals?

We recommend Varilux eyeglass lenses for people who need to see from near to far without wearing bifocals.

Varilux has a sophisticated, patented design that allows focusing clearly at any distance. It does away with the "window" seen in bifocals and the awkward bifocal line. We have the experience and equipment to fit these advanced lenses, and we invite you to come and see the difference.

Perception holds key to finding happiness

By John Stahlman
Correspondent

Neither reality nor truth governs one's life in the pursuit of happiness. Instead, perception is king.

Children see parents as old-fashioned and out of touch with the times. Parents look on their age and long experience as a reservoir of wisdom. Teenagers complain that parents do not understand and parents think if sons and daughters listened they would know more and do more. Aging parents fight to maintain their independence and their middle-aged offspring wish they would try a little harder.

Americans are certain their country is the greatest in the world. Friendly Canadians and antagonistic Russians see it differently.

Jack Buck said St. Louis was the greatest baseball city in America when he was inducted into the Baseball Hall of Fame. Many in the crowd booed.

The differences in perspective permeate the workplace, too. An employer provides a wage agreeable to the employee. Along with the salary, comes medical insurance, sick pay, paid vacation, holidays, contributions to a retirement fund and life insurance. Add to those economic benefits a safe, even pleasant, work environment, and congenial co-workers convince the employer that he deserves grateful workers. That's the employer's perception.

The employee sometimes sees it differently. Neither workers nor employees has a choice but to contribute to the social security fund, so why should the employer be praised for doing what the law requires? The employee isn't.

A vacation with pay acknowledges that a break from the routine adds to the efficiency of workers. So, vacations really benefit the employer. Since sickness comes uninvited, a sick employee shouldn't be penalized with a loss of income for something he couldn't avoid.

The agreeable wage was accepted as a starting point, not as a long-term agreement. While agreeing to work for less than one is worth, the employee hopes that need and reward will soon lift the earned wage. Working longer, finding better ways to do things, having profitable ideas and loyalty to the company add nothing to that week's pay envelope, or so it seems to the employee.

One parishioner says to his pastor, "I don't care much about your preaching and I don't expect you to visit me in my home. But when I am in the hospital, that's when I need you and I want you to be there."

Another member of the same congregation thinks involvement with the youth group deserves a majority of the pastor's time and energy. Yet another expects the pastor's job as akin to a chief executive officer of a corporation. Some want teaching to head the list of pastoral priorities. Every expectation grows out of a particular perspective.

If that isn't enough to make the task difficult, add the perspective of the pastor to the mix of expectations held by parishioners. Moral leader, prophet, teacher, healer, preacher and evangelist each has its perspective that determines priorities, conduct and performances.

Considering the number and variety of perspectives in any congregation, workplace and family, it's a small miracle that relationships endure, businesses prosper and churches continue.

On the other hand, those little miracles point the way to a successful pursuit of happiness.

Try this experiment for one week. Become aware of the perspective of others. See if you can find the perspective of that other driver on the road that might explain his "crazy" behavior behind the wheel.

See if you can see the world

Daring Darwin pushes Stars to 3-0

By Gary King
Staff writer

GRANITE CITY — When he has a basketball in his hand, Granite City Campus guard Darwin Montana is like a fighter pilot. He's always on the lookout for a chance to shoot, an excuse to push the trigger.

On Tuesday, Montana's Missiles were everywhere. He launched them without rhyme or reason. He launched them when he was on balance, he launched them when he was off balance. He set up launching pads all over the Granite City Campus gymnasium.

It was like watching D-Day all over again. Make that D as in Darwin.

By the time his team finished dusting off Rend Lake Junior College 105-88, Montana's box score looked like a fat foot in a narrow shoe. Thirty-eight points, six 3-pointers and only God knows how many did-you-see-thats.

Haskins was asked to evaluate Montana's magic.

"I tell you, the guy's shooting range is somewhere near Outer Mongolia," Haskins said, exaggerating the issue only slightly.

"He's almost impossible to defend because he can shoot from everywhere."

Which is exactly what he did. When the Stars jumped out to an early 15-point lead in the first half, Daring Darwin shot. When it appeared the Stars had taken an insurmountable 17-point lead in the second half, Daring Darwin watched from the bench.

But when Rend Lake closed the Stars' lead to 73-65 with 10 minutes to play, Daring Darwin dominated.

First there was his three-pointer, which he shot on the dead run, semi-balanced. It was a picture-(un)perfect shot, the kind that makes a coach cringe. It touched only net as it went through the hoop.

Then there were a pair of free throws. Daring Darwin, a 6-2 sophomore from Chicago Marshall High School, sank after being called on a driving layup attempt.

Then there was Daring Darwin's breakaway slam, which came slightly less than a New York Second after Daring Darwin's free throws.

"We'll never be a team that is patient enough to look for the 15-foot shot," Collins said, basking in his team's best start ever (3-0).

"We have guys like Charles Claggett and Montana that can make the 22-foot shot for three points, so we're not going to worry much about missed shots this year."

And if dangerous is what you call the Stars, pardon GCC coach Perry Collins if he enjoys living on the edge.

group of athletes, and they are being allowed to play a wide-open, wheel-and-deal, take-it-and-make-it, feel-it-and-shoot-it type of game. They're dangerous."

And if dangerous is what you call the Stars, pardon GCC coach Perry Collins if he enjoys living on the edge.

"We'll never be a team that is patient enough to look for the 15-foot shot," Collins said, basking in his team's best start ever (3-0).

"We have guys like Charles Claggett and Montana that can make the 22-foot shot for three points, so we're not going to worry much about missed shots this year."

Ah, yes, Charles Claggett, the guy that finally got left in the shadows because he only scored 20 points. Keep in mind this is the same Charles Claggett that scored 33 points — while Montana scored a mere 15 — in a 117-108 win over Lincoln Land College on Monday.

See the trend? Beating the Stars will be like playing Wack-A-Mole. Just when you shut one Star down, another will surface and shine just as brightly.

Like forward Robbie Carter, who supplied 11 points, most of which came during intervals when Montana and Claggett were re-loading. Or like Aaron Martin or Leon Coleman, who snuck eight points apiece into their box scores. Or like center Don Stevanus, who very, very quietly scored seven points, pulled down 10 rebounds and basically eliminated Rend Lake's inside game.

The effort was steady and solid, but Collins isn't trying to pass his team off as a Rock of Gibraltar just yet. When it comes to stability, the Stars could, shall we say, become more stable. But the keel they plan on has leveled somewhat in TOM LAWLESS was the featured speaker at the Granite City Park District Sports Awards Banquet on Tuesday.

Lawless relives homer again at park banquet

By Dave Whaley
Executive sports editor

GRANITE CITY — Tom Lawless got a chance to relive his moment in the sun once again on Tuesday. Not that he hasn't done so a couple of hundred times.

Lawless was the featured speaker at the Granite City Park District 27th annual Sports Award Banquet at the Granite City Township Hall. He spoke briefly before fielding questions from the audience. Not surprisingly, most of the questions concerned the most famous swing of Lawless' otherwise mostly anonymous career.

A utility infielder and emergency catcher for the Cardinals since 1965, Lawless was pressed into duty in the 1967 World Series when Terry Pendleton was injured. Lawless responded with a memorable three-run homer to win Game 4 against the Minnesota Twins.

"I certainly wasn't expecting to hit a home run when I came up in that spot," Lawless said. "I'm sure most of you are thinking 'Oh, no, here comes that guy again.' Even my dad was probably saying that."

"But I knew I had hit the ball very well. It was a cool night and the ball was carrying."

The homer off Viola landed a mere five feet over the left-field fence although Lawless' reaction made it look like the ball was going to go through one of the archways at the top of the stadium. He stood and watched at home plate, then flipped his bat in the air. It was a reaction to make Reggie Jackson proud.

"I don't know why I reacted that way," Lawless said. "Obviously it was something that many people enjoyed. There were a lot of people (mostly from Minnesota) who didn't like it so much."

"Whitey said he told me I had better run the next time. But I don't remember hearing him say that in the dugout."

Despite Lawless' heroics, the Cardinals lost to the Twins in seven games by losing all four games in the Metrodome.

"The seventh game was the best game we played up there," Lawless said. "It was tough adjusting to the playing conditions there."

Cardinal general manager Dal MacVittie, a native of Granite City, also spoke at the banquet, which honored winners in the

Magicians charm kids at high school

By Dave Whaley
Executive sports editor

GRANITE CITY — To the large percent of the audience at Memorial Gymnasium on Monday, the old routines were all too familiar.

But for that portion of the audience under the age of 8, it was an evening of great fun. And that's what it's all about. The Harlem Magicians came to Granite City for an evening of fun and basketball in an appearance sponsored by the Granite City High School Varsity Club. Their outwitted and outmatched opponents were the GCIS faculty, made up mostly of coaches.

It will come as no great shock to learn that "The Magicians" scored a 126-53 victory. After all, they have won more than 6,000 games in their 34 years of existence and have lost exactly nine times. The win on Monday brought their current winning streak to well over 4,000.

Though not as broadly known as the Harlem Globetrotters, the Magicians go through many of the same routines. Owner/coach/player Marques Haynes can still dribble a basketball like Stravinsky played a violin even as he approaches his 70th birthday.

But the star of the show was Valentino Willis. Assuming the clown's role made most famous by Meadowlark Lemon, Willis was by far the focal point of the evening. He "taunted" his opponents, who included Ron Yates, Greg Patton, Allen Lobdell, Rich Essington, Bill Ohlendick, Bryan Wilkinson, Mike Garland and Dave McClain.

Willis and the Magicians also had fun with referees Gus Lignoul and Jim Davis. The routines are old hat to anyone who has seen the Globetrotters or Magicians more than a couple of times. They trap the ball in the net, then let Lignoul come over to solve the problem only to let the ball fall on Lignoul's head just as he arrives.

The infamous water break took place late in the third quarter. Players threw little cups of water at each other before one came running over with a big bucket of water near the sidelines. As the kids scrambled, out flew the confetti.

Then came the ball with the string on it and the ball with the air let out of it. Unlike the Globetrotters, who all seem to get into the act, Willis is all but left on his own for the comedy segment of the entertainment. It puts a heavy load on him and leaves things a little dry at times. But then again, the Magicians' traveling and performing schedule is a rigorous one. They are constantly on the road and don't get many nights off, so some nights are undoubtedly better than others.

But the others can play some basketball. All clowning and trickery aside, they can carve a team up and they play hard on defense. And Haynes made a few bombs from near midcourt. Willis, while facing away from the basket, bounced a free throw through his legs and in.

The halftime show got the kids involved as several of them were drawn from the audience for some shooting and ball drills orchestrated by Willis. Winners received free souvenir programs.

All of it was cheered on by four of the ugliest cheerleaders ever in captivity. "The stringy" dressed as several of them were drawn from the audience for some shooting and ball drills orchestrated by Willis. Winners received free souvenir programs.

It was hardly a pretty sight, but the looks in the eyes of the young men who were charmed by Willis and the Magicians was just beautiful.

Three of the key big men in the 1987-88 Sporting News Shootout signed national letters of intent to play college basketball at major universities recently.

Two other players of note participating in the Shootout are 6-6 Andy Kaufmann of Jacksonville High School, who will attend the University of Illinois, and 6-8 Evan Pederson of Parkway West, who will play for Northwestern. Kaufmann, a two-time Illinois scoring leader (31 points per game last year), is attempting to become the first player to record three consecutive Illinois scoring titles.

Missouri lacked big-play punch

By Scott Fitzgerald
Journal Staff Writer

"For the understatement of the year, we go to the Missouri Tigers locker room last Saturday and Coach Woody Widenhofer."

"It wasn't very pretty," Widenhofer said. "But I am pleased that we played pretty solid football."

Widenhofer was referring to his team's play in its unimpressive 19-7 victory over the Kansas Jayhawks, they of the 1-9-1 record. But those same statements also could be applied to the 1987 campaign, a season in which the Tigers, who finished 5-6, played better than their record indicates.

Just as dropped passes, fumbles and various other miscues kept the Tigers from routing the hapless Jayhawks, those same mistakes plagued Missouri throughout the year, turning a possible winning season into an extremely mediocre one. Missouri's five wins came against teams that had a combined record of 10-40-3.

But to the Tigers' credit, five of their six losses were to teams now ranked in the Associated Press Top 20 (Oklahoma, Nebraska, Syracuse, Oklahoma State and Indiana), and three of those defeats went down to the wire. The other loss was to Colorado and the Tigers finished in fifth place in the Big Eight at 3-4.

Though the Tigers did not end up with a winning mark, they beat their 1986 record 13-6 in two games. The improvement has many Missouri seniors wishing they had another year of eligibility.

"We came a long way from where we were last year," said senior strong safety Erik McMillan, who tied the Missouri career record for tackles, 321, with seven against Kansas. "This team is a lot different than the previous two. They'll beat five wins next year."

Senior guard Jeff Rigman, a graduate of Parkway West High School, is the only Tigers player to start every game under Widenhofer. He said this year's squad started something special.

"We really played as one unit this year, where as the last couple years we didn't play together," Rigman said. "I'll tell you what—I miss being with these guys already."

"This year, there was nobody better than anybody else—we were all on the same level. You don't have the ego trips going on out there. We were worrying about playing for each other instead of just for ourselves."

Rigman keyed an offensive line that opened some king-size holes for senior running backs Robert Delapio and Darrell Wallace, and sophomore Tommie Stowers. Delapio finished the year with 750 yards on 115 carries, while Stowers tallied 707 yards on 151 carries.

In addition to becoming Missouri's all-time leading rusher earlier this season, Wallace set a new school mark for all-purpose running yardage Saturday. He raised his career total to 3,303 yards with 105 against Kansas, thus surpassing former Missouri wide receiver Joe Stewart (1974-77).

In addition to the seniors mentioned, Widenhofer bids farewell to defensive lineman Jeff Cross, linebacker Reggie Ballard, offensive tackle Phil Schreiber and place-kicker/punter Tom Wheelan, Missouri's second all-time scoring leader with 191 points.

But Widenhofer returns starters at every other position, including eight sophomores, which should bode well for 1988. With the team's play but steady improvement under Widenhofer, Missouri athletic director Jack Lengyel is high on the team's future.

"The team has improved every year under Woody, and that's all we asked—to keep making progress," Lengyel said. "We want to get this football program back to where it was a few years ago, and I feel we're on our way."

But in order to get there, the Tigers will have to draw more fan support. They averaged 39,234 fans in seven home games this season, a somewhat inflated figure due to the estimated 15,000 Nebraska rooters who descended upon Faurot Field when Missouri played the Cornhuskers.

Lengyel said there now exists a solid core of 30,000 fans, but that figure needs to be increased.

"Our fans need to be more supportive," Lengyel said. "There are other 100 successful major college programs that are selling out. We're making an effort to get the program back to where it used to be, but it will take time to build it back up."

Illini season a confusing collapse

By Jim Woodcock
Journal Staff Writer

The University of Illinois 1987 football highlight film probably won't be shown in Peoria, Champaign or anywhere else in the state.

A season of collapses, confusion and sometimes comedy ended on an appropriate note Saturday in Evanston, Ill., where the Illini—a group whose problems may be more serious than many first thought—were browbeaten 28-10 by lowly Northwestern.

Illinois' final mark of 3-7-1 is added to a three-year slide that apparently is becoming increasingly disturbing to the university's movers and shakers who gave Coach Mike White's program a three-story, $4.2 million football coaching and training facility last year.

Since the Illini went 9-9 in the conference and 10-2 overall, finishing 7-4 in 1984, 6-5-1 in 1985 and 4-7 in 1986.

Illinois did not go to a bowl in 1984 because the program was on NCAA probation. The Illini faded in the 1985 Peach Bowl, losing to 31-29 to Army, and the past two years bowl representatives have visited Memorial Stadium only to scout the opposition.

After finishing near the Big 10 seller with a 2-5-1 mark, Illinois appears to be facing a murky future. The defense, which played admirably all season and kept the Illini in most of their games, will be hit hard by graduation. The offense, uncharacteristically ineffective throughout season, will lose its two top receivers to graduation and question marks haunt the balance of the unit.

One thing appears certain: Jeff George, the heralded quarterback who had to sit out the season after transferring from Purdue, will be counted on heavily next season to revive the program, not to mention fan interest.

George, the top-rated high school quarterback in the nation two years ago, left Purdue when former Texas coach Fred Akers—a disciple of the rushing attack—took over the Bullermakers' program this season. George picked Illinois because of its traditional flair for the passing game—something that was sorely lacking this season.

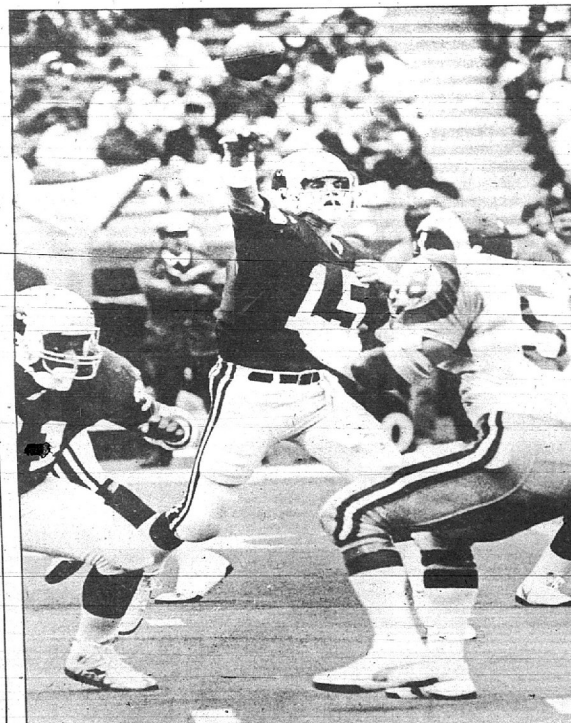

Sophomore Brian Menkhausen of Hazelwood West High School emerged as the starter this season, but his playing time was reduced considerably after the Illinois offense sputtered in a 34-14 season-opening loss to North Carolina and a 27-7 setback to Arizona State the following week.

Quarterback Scott Mohr took over, with cameo appearances by Menkhausen, to help Illinois defeat East Carolina for its first win of the season. The next loss, though, a 10-6 defeat at home against Ohio State, turned out to be indicative of what was ahead for the Illini: great defensive efforts spoiled by an inconsistent offense.

Mohr and third-stringer Peter Freund eventually nudged Menkhausen to the bottom of the depth chart, and after a dismal 9-3 loss at Purdue, the duo helped Illinois go 2-1 in its next three games. The 14-14 tie at Michigan State was the only blemish on league record of the Rose Bowl-bound Spartans.

The final three games of the season, though, were nightmares for Illinois. After leading 16-0 at Indiana, the Illini lost 34-22. After leading 14-7 at home against Michigan, the Illini lost in the final minute 17-14. And then came the debacle at Northwestern, which was reminiscent of last season's finale when the Wildcats stunned Illinois 23-18 in Memorial Stadium.

For the season the defense gave up 208 points, the best in White's seven-year tenure at Illinois. The offense, though, scored only 181 points—by far the worst by a White-coached Illinois team.

Cardinals enjoy life on the road

The team without a home finally appears to have found refuge on the road.

The football Cardinals made Coach Buddy Ryan and the Philadelphia Eagles eat their words last Sunday, winning on the road for the first time in 10 games.

And with problems at home, the next best place for the Big Red (4-6) may be the next stop on their NFL map—Atlanta: home of Rhett Butler, Ted Turner and one of NFL's worst football teams.

Under first-year Coach Marion Campbell, the Falcons have posted a 2-8 mark and are last in league in scoring offense and scoring defense.

Following Sunday's 24-13 loss to the Minnesota Vikings, Campbell was not ready to abandon ship, but he was calling out the damage-control parties.

"We've been giving up big plays (two special team touchdowns to the Vikings) and making big mistakes," he said. "But this team has fought hard all year and I expect them to play hard this week."

The Cardinals, on the other hand, are proving that there is life after death. Driven by Coach Gene Stallings' optimism, fortitude and determination, they have refused to give up on a season that appears lost.

A motivator for the Cardinals against Philadelphia was Ryan and his negative comments on the Big Red prior to the game. Campbell, however, has had nothing but praise for his upcoming opponent.

"They're (Cardinals) a good offensive football team," he said. "We'll have to be ready."

If the Falcons, who have won three of the last four meetings between the two teams, are to beat the Big Red, they will have to get more production out of their top two offensive weapons—running back Gerald Riggs and quarterback Scott Campbell.

Riggs rushed for just 51 yards last week and Campbell passed for 194 yards and a touchdown.
